DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the “generally elliptically-shaped main handle body member”, “circumferential axis”, and “semi-minor axes” must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as “amended.” If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR

1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action.

The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 7-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claims 7 and 19, the terms "a circumferential axis" and "semi-minor axes" are not fully understood in the context of the claimed invention. It is not clear what this is meant to constitute.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 7-10 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Leger, US Patent 2,421,339. A handle that is equipped on a hand tool providing a secure grip and facilitating reduced stress on a user's hand, comprising a recessed surface area 13 on a side of the handle for receiving a thumb, a ridged surface area on a side opposing the recessed surface area, the ridged surface area providing at least a ridge 11 that provides support for securing a finger, wherein both the recessed surface area and the ridged surface area are located at a distal end of the handle. The handle has a slight curvature that is convex as viewed from a top side of the handle (see figure 3). The handle has a slight curvature that compliments the curvature of the palm of a hand. The ridged surface area comprises at least a pair of ridges, a first ridge separating a first recessed area 8 for receiving a first finger and a second recessed area 9 for receiving a second finger, and a second ridge separating the second recessed area from the remaining portion of the handle. As best understood, the second ridge protrudes out from the side of the handle significantly so that there is a clear separation between the second finger and a third finger (the smaller ridge following ridge 11), wherein the second ridge adequately supports the forces of both the second finger and the third finger during use of the hand tool. The recessed surface area for receiving the thumb receives the thumb as the thumb is aligned substantially parallel to the long axis of the handle.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 11-17 and 19-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Leger. Although an elliptical shape of the thumb supporting recess structure is not shown, it would have been an obvious matter of design choice to make the different portions of the device of whatever form or shape was desired or expedient. A change in form or shape is generally recognized as being within the level of ordinary skill in the art, absent any showing of unexpected results. In re

Dailey et al., 149 USPQ 47. Such a modification is not critical to the design and would have produced no unexpected results.

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments filed 4/8/05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant argues the thumb recess being of a general elliptical shaped thumb recess is not taught by Leger. As the above rejection states, it is the position of the examiner that such a modification is an obvious change in shape modification and is not critical to the invention design.

Applicant argues that the depression 13 of Leger is not analogous to that of the present invention since it extends from an upper surface of the handle; and that the groove 8 and 9 of Leger are not analogous to those of the current invention because of similar reasons. However, such limitations are based on how the handle is oriented, and if one were to orient the handle of Leger at any appropriate angle, such limitations are clearly found within the scope of the device of Leger.

Applicant has not sufficiently claimed his invention to overcome the art of record.

Conclusion

8. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
